

JEFFREY MALUMED, M.D.

Dr. Malumed received his undergraduate degree in 1979, from the University Of Massachusetts, graduating Magna Cum Laude. His M.D. was awarded in 1983 from New York Medical College with distinctions of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Phi Kappa Phi. His surgical internship was completed in 1984 at Lenox Hill Hospital and his Orthopaedic Residency was performed at State University of N.Y. in 1988. Additionally, he completed a Sports Medicine Fellowship with Dr. Frank Noyes at Cincinnati Sports Medicine in 1989.

He is Co-Chairman of the Orthopaedic Surgery Division at Taylor Hospital. He has authored and co-authored multiple Orthopaedic research projects and Professional Presentations at various Orthopaedic and Professional society meetings and conferences. Dr. Malumed was the Team Physician for the Philadelphia Bulldogs, the Philadelphia Storm, and was the Team Physician for the U.S. Olympic Ski Team, for over nine years. He has been the President of Premier Orthopaedics since 2001. Additionally, he was named as one of the Main Line Today "Top Docs" in Orthopaedic Surgery in 2008.

Dr. Malumed is a Board Certified member of the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, with re-certification earned in 2001.

Dr. Malumed is married, with two children, and has special interest areas in Surgery of the Knees, Shoulders, Sports Medicine., and Arthroscopy.

